

CV - Dr. Jan Schächtele

Co-Founder & Managing Director

Dr. Jan Schächtele (born 1981)

Before founding COMATCH, the first online marketplace that brings together independent consultants and clients in 2014, Dr. Jan Schächtele worked at McKinsey & Company, the internationally leading consultant company, for six years and gained first-hand insights into the consulting business and the new requirements emerging from the increasing digitalisation of all economic sectors. At McKinsey, he mainly worked in the energy as well as the infrastructure and logistics sector, focusing on sustainability and lean management. Dr. Jan Schächtele holds a PHD in environmental economics from EBS, University for economics and law, Wiesbaden. Prior to that, he completed his degree in business administration at EBS Business School, Oestrich-Winkel, and studied at the Universities of Singapore and Québec, Canada. He held a scholarship of the German Economy foundation and played Basketball for USC Freiburg Basketball in the second federal league for several years.

About COMATCH

COMATCH is the online marketplace for independent management consultants and industry experts. Since March 2015 COMATCH is matching consultants with clients in need of external support. Companies of all sizes use COMATCH, among them international corporates as well as consultancies, startups and SMEs. Consultants that want to join the network have to pass a two-step selection process to guarantee high quality of consulting. As of June 2017 2500 consultants from more than 50 countries are registered. Founders and managing directors of the Berlin-based company are former McKinsey consultants Dr. Christoph Hardt and Dr. Jan Schächtele.
